

Batting Power Won World Title For Yanks

HIGHLY TOUTED CUB HURLERS UNABLE TO HALT STICK ATTACK

Final Game Showed Complete Mastery Of Big Bats

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The New York Yankees are once more masters of the baseball world after a fantastic world series which ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous.

The Yanks won in a series of four straight games, leaving the Chicago Cubs dazed and bewildered by the greatest exhibition of power in the twenty-nine years of world series play.

It was the third time in six years that the Yankees have won the world series in four straight games. The last time was in 1917 and 1918 world series from the Pirates and Cardinals respectively.

Chicago's great pitcher, Walter Johnson, was unable to stop the Yankees' attack. He pitched a brilliant game, but the Yankees' bats were too strong for him.

The Yankees rolled up a total of thirty-seven runs in the four games. The largest total ever made by any team in the history of the world series.
